COURSE DESCRIPTION

Sexuality is fundamental to the cultural, economic, political, and social organization of the United States. This course examines the theoretical and methodological approaches that have been used in sociological studies of sexuality—including those that guide sexuality-related analyses of meanings and identities, practices and behaviors, power and politics, and morality and social control.

The course is divided in three parts. Part I provides some important conceptual foundations for us to understand the various approaches that have been used to study sexuality, as well as the contributions of sociology to the field of sexuality studies. In this section we will discuss the work and influence of Freud, Kinsey, and Foucault, as well as understandings that emerged from social constructionist approaches.

In Part II, based on analysis of various contemporary aspects of sexuality in people’s everyday lives, we will discuss the links and tensions between individuals’ own interpretations and those that are made available to them within the sociocultural contexts in which they live. Among other topics, we will examine how people use and question existing categories of sexual identity, the connections and disconnections between notions of sexual identity and gender expectations, how sociocultural expectations emerge in the interpretations that people make while having sex, the ways in which collective identities and sexuality-related social movements are formed, and how sexuality changes when people move from one social setting to another. We will also pay close attention to forms of social and racial inequality.

Finally, in Part III, we will explore how and why sexuality is a heavily regulated social activity and one that is deeply connected with morality in contemporary society. We will pay close attention to topics such as the emergence of moral panics, the age of consent and the regulation of teen sexuality, censorship in the mass media, and the criminalization and legalization of sex work.

GOALS:

- To understand how society influences people’s sexuality and sexual identities, as well as how people contribute to changing social interpretations of sexuality.
- To discuss how the sociological study of sexuality helps us comprehend society more broadly, as well as to consider the importance of sexuality studies within the broader field of sociology.
- To analyze why sexuality is a socially- and culturally-charged topic, and one that is commonly perceived as requiring considerable social regulation.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

Students will be expected to:

- Do all required readings prior to each class session.
- Write one critical review essay of the required readings for one class session of your choice. Further instructions for this assignment will be posted on Blackboard.
- Complete a closed-book, in-class midterm exam that will take place on Tuesday, April 27. The exam will consist of essay questions covering the material discussed during the first four weeks of the quarter (up to April 20). I will provide further instructions on Blackboard.
- Complete a take-home final. Students must turn in a hard copy of the final at Prof. Carrillo’s office between 11AM and 12 PM on Monday, June 7. Students must also submit an electronic copy of the take-home final via Blackboard and Safe Assignment before noon on Monday June 7. The take-home final, and further instructions, will be posted on Blackboard on Monday, May 31. I will hold an optional review session for the take-home final on Tuesday, June 1st during the regular class time.
- Attend class and section on a regular basis and participate in class discussion.
- Submit all written assignments in hard copy and electronically on Blackboard.
- Use the following format for all written assignments (except for the midterm): 1-inch margins, double spaced, font: Times Roman 12. Include page numbers on all pages, and don’t forget to write your name on the first page.
Policies and Procedures:

Grading:

In this class you will earn a grade by completing the following assignments:

Critical review essay 20% of the final grade
Midterm 30% of the final grade
Take-home final 40% of the final grade
Section attendance and participation 10% of the final grade

Make-up midterms will be offered only to students who have a medical excuse or comparably serious justification. Late take-home finals will not be accepted at all, unless you contact me before the final is due and you have a medical excuse or comparably serious justification. Please note that there is no excuse for failing to keep electronic backups of your data (for example, on flash drives, CDs, external hard drives, or other computers) in case your primary computer fails or your hard drive crashes.

Attendance and participation:

You are expected to attend class and section sessions on a regular basis. Attendance will be taken at sections. Students are responsible for all material presented in the readings, films, lectures, and sections. You must come to class having already read the assigned readings for that day. Please bring your copies of the readings to lectures and sections so that you can refer to them during class. I strongly encourage you to ask questions and offer opinions and comments, both in lectures and during section. I see class discussion as an important component of adult learning.

I will make available some class materials on Blackboard, but students are expected to attend class in order to learn the course material. Students are also expected to be not just physically present in the classroom but also mentally present. Students should not be otherwise occupied with email, texting, computer games, or other online activities that are not part of the class goals and activities.

Diversity of opinions:

In this course we will discuss several topics that can be controversial. Please keep in mind that you may be exposed to opinions that differ considerably from your own. Disagreement with the instructor or other students is fine, as long as you are respectful in how you present your own points of view.

Sexuality-related material:

The goals of this class require that we speak frankly about sexuality. In lectures, films, and class discussion, you may be exposed to sexually explicit language and you will learn information about a variety of sexual interpretations, ideas, practices, and lifestyles that may differ considerably from your own. For the purposes of the class, it is important to maintain a neutral, non judgmental tone in relation to sexuality.

Communication:
This course will use the Blackboard course management system (https://courses.northwestern.edu/webapps/login/). You are responsible for logging in, checking regularly for posted announcements, and obtaining readings and assignments from the site. You will receive course announcements that will be sent to the students’ registered campus email address. You are responsible for checking your registered email accounts regularly.

Syllabus is subject to change:
This syllabus and schedule are subject to change in the event of unforeseen circumstances. I will post announcements of changes on Blackboard and include them in email messages to students.

Academic integrity:
Academic integrity is fundamental for this course, and plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated.

I strictly follow university regulations concerning academic integrity, which means that I report all suspected violations of the policy (including suspicion of cheating, plagiarism, fabrication, obtaining an unfair advantage, and aiding and abetting dishonesty) to the Assistant Dean for Advising and Academic Integrity, who then carries out a formal investigation. Please familiarize yourself with the university’s policy on academic integrity (see http://www.northwestern.edu/uacc/). You should understand that examples of plagiarism include obtaining text from any source (including the Internet), and passing off such text as your own work, rather than citing the source of the material. In addition, while I encourage students to collaborate when studying or learning course material or when working on any group projects, it should be clear that no collaboration is permitted on written work or exams, and any collaboration in those cases constitutes academic dishonesty.

If you have any questions about what constitutes plagiarism or academic dishonesty, I strongly encourage you to speak to me about it. Confirmed violations of academic integrity will result in both an administrative penalty and an academic penalty. The administrative penalty, assigned by university officials, typically is suspension for one quarter; any such suspension becomes part of your record, which is made available on request to potential employers and graduate school admissions committees. The academic penalty is assigned by the instructor, and my own policy in almost every case is to assign a failing grade for the entire course.

Safe Assignment
This course makes use of Safe Assignment, a software program that compares your work against other texts in its database in order to safeguard academic integrity. Therefore you will be required to submit your written essays electronically on Blackboard in addition to submitting them in print form. All student work may be analyzed electronically for violations of the university’s academic integrity policy and may also be included in a database for the purpose of testing for plagiarized content. Please contact me if you have any questions about Safe Assignment.

Accessibility:
Any student with a documented disability needing accommodations is requested to speak directly to the Office of Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD) (847-467-5530) and the instructor as early as possible in the quarter (preferably within the first two weeks of class). All discussions will remain confidential.

My office is wheelchair-accessible via a ramp from the parking lot in the back of the building. Let me know if you plan to drop by during office hours so that I can open the door to the building for you.

Courtesy toward others:
Make sure your cell phone is turned off or set to vibrate. Don’t engage in conversation with other students that is not part of the class discussion. Please keep to a minimum interruptions and distractions caused by late arrivals or early departures.

Class materials and lectures
Students are prohibited from selling (or being paid for taking) notes during this course to or by any person or commercial firm without my express written permission. No audio or video recordings of class are permitted without my permission.

READINGS:
All readings will be available in Blackboard as PDFs.

You must buy a clicker (a Response Card XR made by Turning Technologies). The clickers are available at the Norris Bookstore. Alternatively, you may buy a ResponseWare license (to use with your phone or computer) from the Turning Technologies website: www.TurningTechnologies.com. Please bring your clicker to class regularly beginning on April 1.
