COURSE DESCRIPTION

Sexuality is fundamental to the cultural, economic, political, and social organization of the United States. This course examines the theoretical and methodological approaches that have been used in sociological studies of sexuality—including those that guide sexuality-related analyses of meanings and identities, practices and behaviors, power and politics, and morality and social control.

The course is divided in three parts. Part I provides some important conceptual foundations for us to understand the various approaches that have been used to study sexuality, as well as the contributions of sociology to the field of sexuality studies. In this section we will discuss the work and influence of Freud, Kinsey, and Foucault, as well as understandings that emerged from social constructionist approaches in sociology and anthropology.

In Part II we will discuss the links and tensions between individuals’ own interpretations and those that are made available to them within the sociocultural contexts in which they live. Among other topics, we will examine how people use and question existing categories of sexual identity, the connections and disconnections between notions of sexual identity and gender expectations, how sociocultural expectations emerge in the interpretations that people make while having sex, and the ways in which collective identities and sexuality-related social movements are formed. We will also pay close attention to forms of social inequality.

Finally, in Part III, we will explore how and why sexuality is a heavily regulated social activity and one that is deeply connected with morality in contemporary society. We will pay close attention to topics such as the emergence of moral panics, the age of consent and the regulation of teen sexuality, and the criminalization of sex work and HIV.

GOALS:

- To understand how society influences people’s sexuality and sexual identities, as well as how people contribute to changing social interpretations of sexuality.
- To discuss how the sociological study of sexuality helps us comprehend society more broadly, as well as to consider the importance of sexuality studies within the broader field of sociology.
- To analyze why sexuality is a socially- and culturally-charged topic, and one that is commonly perceived as requiring considerable social regulation.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

Students will be expected to:

- Do all required readings prior to each class session.
- Complete a closed-book, in-class midterm exam that will take place on Tuesday, April 26. The exam will consist of essay questions covering the material discussed during class sessions 1 to 6 (up to April 19). I will provide further instructions on Canvas.
- Write two critical review essays, due Tuesday, May 17 and Tuesday, May 31. Students must submit an electronic copy of the critical review essay via Canvas and Turnitin before 3:30 PM on the due date. Further instructions for these assignments will be posted on Canvas.
- Attend class and section on a regular basis and participate in class discussion.
- Use the following format for all written assignments (except for the midterm): one-inch margins, double spaced, font: Times Roman 12. Include page numbers on all pages, and don’t forget to write your name on the first page.
POLICIES AND PROCEDURES:

Grading:
In this class you will earn a grade by completing the following assignments:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Assignment</th>
<th>Percentage of the final grade</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Midterm</td>
<td>35%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Critical review essay #1</td>
<td>25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Critical review essay #2</td>
<td>25%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Attendance and participation</td>
<td>15%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Make-up midterms will be offered only to students who have a medical excuse or comparably serious justification. If you turn in the first essay late, a penalty will apply unless you have a medical excuse of comparably serious justification. In the case of the second essay, late papers will not be accepted unless you contact me before the essay is due and you have a medical excuse or comparably serious justification. Please note that there is no excuse for failing to keep electronic backups of your data (for example, on flash drives, CDs, external hard drives, or other computers) in case your primary computer fails or your hard drive crashes.

Attendance and participation:
You are expected to attend class and section sessions on a regular basis. Attendance will be taken. Students are responsible for all material presented in the readings, films, lectures, and sections. You must come to class having already read the assigned readings for that day. Please bring your copies of the readings to lectures and sections so that you can refer to them during class. I strongly encourage you to ask questions and offer opinions and comments, both in lectures and during section. I see class discussion as an important component of adult learning.

I will make available some class materials on Canvas, but students are expected to attend class in order to learn the course material. Students are also expected to be not just physically present in the classroom but also mentally present. Students should not be otherwise occupied with email, texting, computer games, or other online activities that are not part of the class goals and activities.

Diversity of opinions:
In this course we will discuss several topics that can be controversial. Please keep in mind that you may be exposed to opinions that differ considerably from your own. Disagreement with the instructor or other students is fine, as long as you are respectful in how you present your own points of view.
Sexuality-related material:
The goals of this class require that we speak frankly about sexuality. In lectures, films, and class discussion, you may be exposed to sexually explicit language and you will learn information about a variety of sexual interpretations, ideas, practices, and lifestyles that may differ considerably from your own. For the purposes of the class, it is important to maintain a neutral, non-judgmental tone in relation to sexuality.

Communication:
This course will use the Canvas course management system (http://www.it.northwestern.edu/education/learning-management/login.html). You are responsible for logging in, checking regularly for posted announcements, and obtaining readings and assignments from the site. You will receive course announcements that will be sent to the students’ registered campus email address. You are responsible for checking your registered email accounts regularly.

Syllabus is subject to change:
This syllabus and schedule are subject to change in the event of unforeseen circumstances. I will post announcements of changes on Canvas and include them in email messages to students.

Academic integrity:
Academic integrity is fundamental for this course, and plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated.

I strictly follow university regulations concerning academic integrity, which means that I report all suspected violations of the policy (including suspicion of cheating, plagiarism, fabrication, obtaining an unfair advantage, and aiding and abetting dishonesty) to the Assistant Dean for Advising and Academic Integrity, who then carries out a formal investigation. Please familiarize yourself with the university’s policy on academic integrity (see http://www.northwestern.edu/uacc/). You should understand that examples of plagiarism include obtaining text from any source (including the Internet), and passing off such text as your own work, rather than citing the source of the material. In addition, while I encourage students to collaborate when studying or learning course material or when working on any group projects, it should be clear that no collaboration is permitted on written work or exams, and any collaboration in those cases constitutes academic dishonesty.

If you have any questions about what constitutes plagiarism or academic dishonesty, I strongly encourage you to speak to me about it. Confirmed violations of academic integrity will result in both an administrative penalty and an academic penalty. The administrative penalty, assigned by university officials, typically is suspension for one quarter; any such suspension becomes part of your record, which is made available on request to potential employers and graduate school admissions committees. The academic penalty is assigned by the instructor and can severely affect your grade for the course.
Turnitin
This course makes use of Turnitin, a software program that compares your work against other texts in its database in order to safeguard academic integrity. Therefore you will be required to submit your written essays electronically via Canvas and Turnitin. All student work may be analyzed electronically for violations of the university’s academic integrity policy and may also be included in a database for the purpose of testing for plagiarized content. Please contact me if you have any questions about Turnitin.

Accessibility:
Any student with a documented disability needing accommodations is requested to contact the Accessible NU Center: http://www.northwestern.edu/accessiblenu/about-us/our-office/evanston-campus/index.html. Please also speak with me as early as possible in the quarter (preferably within the first two weeks of class). All discussions will remain confidential.

My office is wheelchair-accessible via a ramp from the parking lot in the back of the building. Let me know if you plan to drop by during office hours so that I can open the door to the building for you.

Courtesy toward others:
Make sure your cell phone is turned off or set to vibrate. Don’t engage in conversation with other students that is not part of the class discussion. Please keep to a minimum interruptions and distractions caused by late arrivals or early departures.

Class materials and lectures
Students are prohibited from selling (or being paid for taking) notes during this course to or by any person or commercial firm without my express written permission. No audio or video recordings of class are permitted without my permission.

READINGS:
All readings will be available in Canvas as PDFs.

STUDENT RESPONSE SYSTEM:
You will need a Turning Account License, which can be purchased at the NU bookstore in Norris of online at: https://store.turningtechnologies.com/. Additionally, you will need a “clicker” or a ResponseWare license to respond to polls using your phone or laptop. The NU Password is: acHu.

You must have access to your clicker or ResposeWare regularly, as we will conduct polls in many class sessions. To learn how to purchase and account license and register your clicker, you can go here: https://canvas.northwestern.edu/courses/5666/pages/using-turning-technologies-clickers-in-canvas.
