AREAS OF SPECIALIZATION

Professor Epstein studies the “politics of knowledge”—more specifically, the contested production of expert and especially biomedical knowledge, with an emphasis on the interplay of social movements, experts, and health institutions, and with a focus on the politics of sexuality, gender, and race. Broadly speaking, his interests lie in:

Sociology of biomedicine, health, and illness
Sociology of science and scientific knowledge
Gender, sexuality, race, and biomedicine
Health and inequality
Social movements (especially in relation to health, science, and technology)
Sociology of sexuality
LGBT studies
HIV/AIDS
