

Culture & Society Workshop

Winter 2011

- January 6 Professor Ashlee Humphreys—Integrated Marketing Communications
Sustainability and Social Class
- January 13 Camilo Vergara—Photographer and Social Documentarian
Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as Us: The Ghetto Portraits
- January 20 No Workshop
- January 27 Stacy Lom—Sociology
Institutional Politics, Scandal, and the Creation of Evaluative Cultures
- February 3 Brian Sargent—Sociology
A Middling Success: Simultaneity, Leadership, and Identity in Community Development Politics
- February 10 Professor Jacqueline Stevens—Political Science
Don Quixote in America: Fantasies on the Ground
- February 17 Michelle Naffziger—Sociology
Schemas, College Actions and College Choices: Why Class Matters in How Students Understand What College Is
- February 24 Hilde Loevdal—Sociology
Evangelicals and Family Values
- March 3 Robert Vargas—Sociology
Bending the “Code of the Streets”: Snitching Cultures in a Violent Chicago Neighborhood
- March 10 Paul DiMaggio—Professor of Sociology, Princeton University
Amir Goldberg—Interdisciplinary Center for Network Science and Applications, University of Notre Dame
Exploring Schematic Heterogeneity in Public Opinion Data: Variation in How Americans Map Relations of Opposition and Affinity Between Science, Religion, and the Supernatural

The Culture and Society Workshop is an interdisciplinary workshop for advanced graduate students and faculty whose research involves the connections between culture and society. It meets every Thursday, 3:30 PM to 5:30 PM, at the Alice Kaplan Institute for the Humanities, 1880 Campus Drive, Kresge Centennial Hall #2-370. New members are always welcome! For more information, please contact coordinator Stacy Lom (cultureworkshop@gmail.com) or faculty director Wendy Griswold (w-griswold@northwestern.edu).